There are lots of ways that your school or college can raise awareness of Women's Rights, and following NCW's values of 'Connect, Challenge and Change' will help maximise your impact. Here are some ideas to start you off and you can find lots more inspiration and downloadable resources on our website.

Connect

- Show your support on social media
- Invite a local campaigner to give a talk at your school
- Arrange an 'EqualiTea' group discussion
- Wear purple for International Women's Day

Challenge

- Write an article for your school newsletter
- Host a 'women in film' night at your school
- Create a poster display or an awareness stand
- Create a collective mural
- Attend a local awareness event or march

Change

- Display books by female authors in your library
- Take part in a local fundraiser or collection
- Sign and share petitions

Would you like to arrange changemaking events in your school on a regular basis?
